

Annual Report
2024

Dear Friends of Congo Initiative,

This past year, we celebrated a remarkable milestone—1,000 UCBC graduates. These men and women are the heart of our mission, equipped with knowledge, skills, transformed minds, and hearts for service. As educators, journalists, pastors, entrepreneurs, and community leaders, they are driving change, breaking down barriers, and shaping a more peaceful and flourishing Congo.

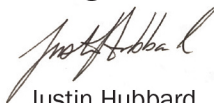

Your unwavering support has made this possible. Because of you, students were equipped to serve their communities, women gained access to education and leadership training, and families affected by conflict have received critical care and counseling. Primary students benefited from safe learning environments. Together, and even in the face of uncertainty, we are building a movement of transformation, where peace and flourishing become the norm.

This year has been a powerful testament to faith and community resilience. Our 2024 Annual Report reflects the progress we made together. You walked alongside courageous and dedicated staff to ensure a holistic education was delivered. Yet, even as we celebrate, we cannot ignore the escalating conflict in eastern Congo and the challenges facing the communities we serve. Thousands of families have been displaced, and hardship continues to grow - worsened by shifts in humanitarian aid and development.

Even in a world that pushes us towards despair, our hope remains unshaken—not in circumstances, but in Christ, in the resilience of our people, and in the power of education to bring lasting change. Now more than ever, Congo Initiative's mission is critical. As many organizations are forced to shut down programs due to instability and cuts in international funding, those in need are looking for help. We are still here.

As you read this report, we invite you to celebrate what has been accomplished, stand with us in prayer and solidarity, and continue partnering with us as we seek to reflect light in a world longing for hope. Together, we can live out our shared hope, equip leaders, and build a future rooted in justice and peace.

With gratitude,

Justin Hubbard
Executive Director, Congo Initiative

"I am deeply grateful and proud to have belonged to UCBC, a prestigious institution that trained me to become a role model for our community. I acquired the technological skills needed to solve complex problems and contribute to social progress. UCBC taught me to be a critical and innovative thinker, to work in a team, and to communicate effectively. Thanks to UCBC, I am ready to apply my knowledge for the good of our community. UCBC is much more than a place of study; it is a home, a family. It is a center of excellence that offers quality training, essential for the progress of our community."

Adelphine Angemito Acira became the first woman to join the Management Committee of UCBC. Her new title is Gender Equity Advocate. With expertise focused on the promotion of gender equity and positive masculinity, her commitment and experience will help strengthen academic and social initiatives within the Management Committee.

EDUCATION

Church Renewal And Global Mission

The Center for Church Renewal and Global Mission (CRGM) is one of UCBC's Community Engagement Initiatives, which works to train leaders, pastors, and agents of change capable of providing lasting solutions to the problems of Congolese society.

Its programs not only focus on direct interventions to improve the lives of local communities, but also address their spiritual development.

CRGM is a key player in the landscape of positive change, community engagement, and strengthening community resilience.

Justice Initiative

On December 13th, five alumni of UCBC's law department were sworn in as lawyers at the Beni High Court. The ceremony not only marks the beginning of promising new careers for these women and men, but is also a testament to UCBC's commitment to academic excellence and preparing students for life after graduation.

Women In Law

"Women's participation in the electoral process" March '24 Women in Law conference

"I was edified by the presentation made by the speakers. I've realized that women underestimate themselves, they think they're incapable. But this conference has made me more aware that women are also capable, and have something to contribute to society. They must also take an interest in political affairs."

Espérance, UCBC second year Law Student

Vocational Training

At the Holistic Family Development Center (HFD), incredible strides are being made to empower women through education and skill-building. By offering vocational and literacy training, women are equipped with the tools they need to create better futures for themselves and their families. In 2024, 52 women were equipped through HFD's vocational and literacy training. These programs not only help women gain valuable skills but also open doors to economic independence, leadership, and opportunity.

NYOTA

In collaboration with Impact Now, UCBC launched the NYOTA Leadership program for women in the fall. NYOTA, meaning "star" in Swahili, is designed to inspire and equip women with the skills, knowledge, and confidence to lead in their communities and beyond. This new initiative empowers women to become change-makers, leaders, and advocates for positive change, offering mentorship, training, and support tailored to their needs. NYOTA graduated its first cohort of 24 women in December.

"NYOTA is much more than just a training program for me; it is a true catalyst for change that has transformed my vision of leadership in a context of permanent crisis. Thanks to its innovative approaches in transformative leadership, I have been able to strengthen my autonomy and build strong networks, thus enabling the implementation of concrete initiatives for the benefit of my community. In an environment marked by war, violence and systematic violations of human rights, women leaders, driven by a resilient vision and a strong commitment, play a vital role in inspiring and mobilizing their communities to overcome adversity."

36 Female victims of SGBV received care and trauma counseling

42 Female widows received group counseling

Development Team

In 2024, UCBC formed its first formal Development Office team with the purpose of strengthening partnership development, diversifying funding sources, and improving communications and marketing. It is a significant step towards strengthening sustainability and positioning UCBC for growth in one of the most challenging contexts. Through its efforts, the DO team was able to secure $1.8 million in project funding for UCBC.

Solar Project - Completed in 2024

The solar project at UCBC was completed in 2024. The campus now has at least 8 hours of sustainable power daily. The project included the installation of solar panels and a bank of batteries with a 94 kWh storage capacity. It is anticipated that during the sunny summer months, the batteries will be able to provide 24 hours of energy.

WASH Project - Phase One Completed in 2024

- Facilities in the UCBC Administration Building were upgraded and expanded.
- Facilities in the UCBC Community Center were operationalized by constructing a septic system.
- The UCBC student toilet block was upgraded and expanded.
- Each location now has hand-washing facilities, hand dryers, and trash cans.

A large water tank capacity of 10,000 liters was also installed on the UCBC campus. This strategic infrastructure project ensures a continuous supply of drinking water for UCBC and the local community. A mini water treatment plant now at UCBC provides clean water at an affordable price to the entire community of Beni. This eco-friendly system uses solar power and reusable jerry cans.

Phase one also included instruction for the women of the Holistic Family Development (HDF) vocational training program on how to sew reusable menstrual hygiene pads from a local trainer. Lack of information or misinformation and lack of supplies are primary barriers to girls' and young women's educational attainment. The women of HFD created 350 pad kits which were distributed, along with educational materials, to women and girls over age 12 at UCBC and the two primary schools.

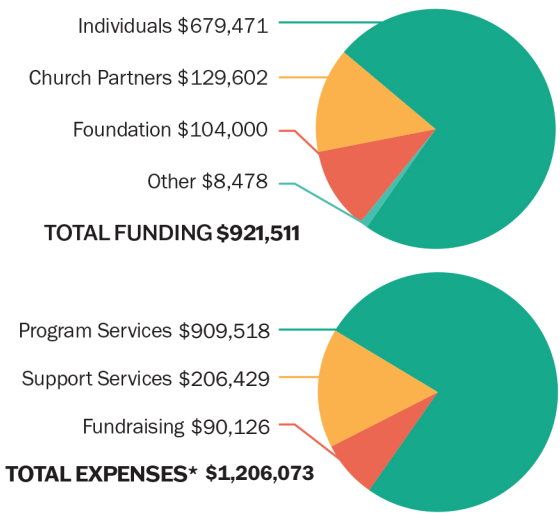

2024 Financial Summary

In 2024, we faced financial challenges with revenue coming in below our projections. While this required us to be more strategic and resourceful, it did not stop us from advancing our mission.

Thanks to the resilience of our staff, partners, and donors, we celebrated over 1,000 graduates, expanded leadership training, and provided critical support to communities affected by conflict. Your continued support remains vital in equipping the next generation of Congolese leaders and changemakers.

Here is a snapshot of our funding in 2024:

* Expenses exceed funding due to roll-over funds from previous year. Completed and audited financials will be available by July 2025.

Celebrating 20 Years

This year, we celebrate another milestone - our 20th anniversary as Congo Initiative USA. We are filled with profound gratitude and renewed energy. The past 20 years have been a testament to the resilience of the Congolese people and the unwavering commitment of partners like you. Through our shared mission and work, CI provides a glimpse of a future where violence gives way to peace, suffering to hope, and brokenness to restoration—all rooted in the transformative power of Christ. We have witnessed the reflection of God’s shalom – not just the absence of violence, but the flourishing of individuals and communities in a region impacted by conflict, displacement, and suffering. Our work though, must continue.

As we look ahead, we recognize that the future of Congo lies in the hands of its young people - the rising generation. We remain dedicated to investing in their potential, equipping them with the tools and resources necessary to build a more peaceful and brighter future. Though eastern DRC remains deeply entrenched in uncertainty and insecurity, we are reminded CI was born during times like these. It was formed and shaped by the faith and passion of the Congolese people, courageous young students, and global partners striving to reflect God’s peaceable kingdom. We are excited to expand our reach and deepen our impact through continued collaboration with our dedicated supporters. Your generosity and belief in our mission have been instrumental in our success. As we embark on this new chapter, we invite you to join us in celebrating our 20th anniversary and invest in the future of CI.
